CHINESE ARMY ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED IN HAVANA -- Havana, Revolucion,
1 Aug 64

On 31 July an act was held in Havana celebrating the 37th anniversary of the foundation of the Chinese People's Army of Liberation. Flavio Bravo, national director of the PURS spoke in glowing terms of the Chinese revolution and of how both the Chinese revolution and the Cuban revolution had faced the same basic enemy: imperialism.

The audience at this celebration was made up mainly of members of the Cuban Armed Forces, foreign diplomatic representations and other guests. Huang Chen-chi, military attache of the Chinese Embassy in Cuba spoke. He began by saying that this celebration symbolized Chinese-Cuban friendship. Later, in the name of the soldiers of his country he condemned the aggressions against Cuba, among them the recent aggression of the OAS and the Yankee provocations at Guantanamo which have gone to the point of the assassination of comrade Ramon Lopez Pena. He said that these activities of imperialism do not show its strength but its impotence before the valued and invincible Cuban people. "The Chinese people will always be at the side of their brother Cuban people to fight with them to the end against imperialism. The armies of China and Cuba have established an indestructible friendship in the common struggle."

The head table was occupied by the ambassadors of China: Wang Yu-ping; Albania: Josif Pogace; Algeria: Zirout Amine; Korea: Chu Tng-chol and North Vietnam: Nguyen Thanh Ha; Huang Chen-chi, Chinese military attache; Col Ku Man-Su, member of the Korean delegation to the 26 July festivities; Col Le Phuc Lich, military attache of the North Vietnam Embassy; Col Frantisek Kriz, military attache from the Czechoslovak Embassy; Col Erwin Witt,
